

Academic Probation for the M.S. Program in Microbiology and Cell Science

A student may be placed on academic probation for failure to maintain a 3.0 major GPA and overall GPA.

The student will be informed of their probation status by email from the department, specifying the conditions to be met and the expected timeline.

The probation process will end once your major GPA and overall GPA are both at least 3.0. The student may have up to two semesters of attendance to accomplish this on a case-by-case basis. In the meantime, the student must earn a term GPA of at least 3.0 each semester.

When probationary requirements are met, the student will be notified via email. If the terms of the student's probation are not met in the timeline given, this may be grounds for dismissal from the program.
